Dear Parents,

Thank you to all of you who were able to attend the holiday program and contribute to the PPO bake sale. The children did a good job at the program and endured some long practices beforehand.

This week we will continue to learn about holiday customs around the world, as well as our usual work with reading, writing and math.

On Tuesday, December 19th, our last day of school before the Christmas break, we will have some special happenings. The student council has declared it pajama day, so the children can wear pajamas to school and bring a dollar to donate to the student council. The children may also bring a small pillow to use during our reading time and also to sit or lay on during the all school holiday movie from 1:00-2:30. I have some pillows in the room, but there are not enough for every child, so if some children bring pillows, each child should have one.

From 2:45- 3:20 we will have a holiday party in the room. We will have a snack of fruit and nuts and the children will open the gifts under the tree and take home the stockings they made. I probably won't send home the Tuesday express that day. Also, the children will not be checking out books from the school library until after the break.

You and your younger children are welcome to join us for the class party. I hope you all have a wonderful Christmas and a fun holiday break. It is a pleasure to work with your children!

Sincerely,
Ginny Mohr
